

Woman Gets Ruppert Millions

Helen Winthrop Weyant

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—A 37-year-old former chorus girl who did what everyone would like to do—woke up and found herself a millionaire—hasn't decided what to do with the vast fortune left her by Col. Jacob Ruppert.

"Some good, I hope," smiled Helen Winthrop Weyant, a trim chestnut-haired woman with a pert face and well-kept figure. Her blue eyes still were bewildered at yesterday's news that she had been bequeathed one third of the $30,000,000 estate of the spruce little 71-year-old bachelor sportsman, whom she described as a "very old friend."

Neither the actress nor her attorneys know exactly how much she will receive—but she is one-third owner of the wealthy world champion New York Yankee baseball club, and has an equal interest in one of the world's largest breweries and an accumulation of Manhattan real estate greater than anyone else has piled up except the Astor clan.

Heavy state and federal inheritance taxes will chip off more than half the estate, but Miss Weyant was expected to receive more than $5,000,000. She also will receive a tax-free bequest of $300,000 cash.

The other two-thirds of the estate go equally to two nieces of Ruppert—Mrs. Joseph Holleran and Mrs. T. Basil McGuire, both of Greenwich, Conn.

Stork Paces Reaper In County In 1938

LISBON, Jan. 21.—The stork out-distanced the grim reaper in Columbiana county during 1938, a report compiled by the county health office reveals.

In the past year there were 513 births and 489 deaths in the district under the jurisdiction of the office. This includes all of the county with the exception of the cities.

Communicable diseases reported to the office during the year totaled 834, measles leading with 529 cases. Scarlet fever ranked next with 115 cases. Other reports of this nature included whooping cough, 34; mumps, 3; diphtheria, 3; syphilis, 64; gonorrhea, 86.

Applicants Swamp Dog License Office

LISBON, Jan. 21.—In a last minute effort to avoid the $1 penalty effective today, 1,100 dog owners nearly swamped the license office in the basement of the courthouse Friday.

T. A. Eckstein and Dog Warden Dan Butch, in charge of sales, estimated another 500 applications arrived by mail on the final day. Agency and mail sales will bring the total to over 6,500, Eckstein estimated.

The men stated it would take several days to answer mail applications. Butch said there were between 2,000 and 3,000 dogs in the county which have never been licensed, adding he expected to start a campaign soon to compel their owners to pay the fee required.

Resident Engineer Jobs Are Abolished

COLUMBUS, Jan. 21.—The state highway department disclosed today that the positions of all county resident engineers had been abolished in a general reorganization of machinery supervising state road construction and maintenance.

Under the new plan, engineers working out of the 12 division headquarters will be in charge of several counties.

Director Robert S. Beightler was unable to furnish immediately the number of engineers employed to administer the new system. His office explained that the reorganization had not been completed entirely.

REASONS FOR ENDING TAX EXEMPTION

The President's recommendation that congress act quickly to end tax exemptions on federal, state, and municipal bonds and salaries is a realistic approach to the government's financial problem.

It is estimated there are upward of 60 billion dollars' worth of tax exempt bonds outstanding. Making future issues taxable would tap a huge source of government income, needed to reduce operating deficits. The increased revenue would more than offset the higher interest rate which government would need to pay to make its securities attractive.

Further income would be obtained by taxing salaries of government employees on the same basis as the income of ordinary citizens. This is sound not only from the standpoint of obtaining revenue, but also from the standpoint of ending an inequality which long has irritated private citizens by favoring jobholders. They should contribute their proper share to support of the government which supports them.

Ending tax exemption would have the further good effect of driving capital into private investment, which would become more attractive if government issues were made less attractive. Since government issues are being regularly over-subscribed, this could be done without danger to government credit. It would be an effective recovery measure.

Presidents Harding, Coolidge, and Hoover, and Secretaries of Treasury Mellon and Mills in addition to President Roosevelt all have urged that a ban be placed on future issues of tax exempt securities. For one reason or another, their recommendations were not carried out, chiefly because of the opposition of southern Democrats who were more concerned with the issue of states' vs. federal rights than with development of sounder fiscal practice. Mr. Roosevelt is on solid ground in asking for speedy action. Congress should act without further delay.

YARDSTICK

Government, it sometimes is pointed out, has no yardstick with which to measure spending. All it has is a never-ending urge to broaden its services, regardless of cost.

Those who fear the consequences of this lack of control—and all Americans who want Uncle Sam to stay hale and hearty—do—are overlooking something. They have forgotten that the common sense and moderation of the population is the ultimate yardstick for measuring spending in a representative government.

It is a yardstick fashioned out of family experience with trying to make outgo and income balance year after year. It is a yardstick strengthened by conviction that spending more than can be earned is a good way to spend trouble.

In Washington, in state capitals, in local government, public officials are talking about economy. They are doing something about economy. They are doing something because they are convinced the next time they run for office voters will be more interested in what they helped to save than in what they helped to spend.

It's the most encouraging sign of health the United States has shown in this decade.

IN HONOR

A proposal by Rep. Jenkins for a painting in the United States capitol honoring the Wright brothers does credit to an Ohio congressman. Orville and Wilbur Wright made a great contribution to the history of mankind by their work with airplanes. Whether they helped mankind itself is open to question.

The greatest worldwide importance of airplanes at the moment is their use as implements of destruction. That's not the fault of the Wright brothers, though perhaps they were aware of the military use or their work.

It wasn't the fault of Alfred Nobel that his successful experiments with high explosives increased the potentialities of slaughter, though perhaps he, too, was aware of the military uses of his invention. He recognized them by establishing a compensating prize for contributions to peace.

It might be that a better way to honor the Wright brothers than a painting in the capitol would be to spend the same amount of money to try to discover a way to dispel the shadow of death they have cast over the world's cities.

SCANT SOLACE FOR A DAY IN JANUARY

When the wind stands cold and uncompromising in the northwest, and there's more snow to be shoveled off the front and back walks;

When the duty of lifting lumps of coal and lugging them to the furnace door begins to pall, and a single blade of green grass would look like a sign from heaven that all was well on earth;

When the common cold gets disgustingly common, a hole appears in the finger of a glove, and the old overshoes begin to look ragged;

And when a sparrow huddled on the branch of a bush trying to keep warm and not having any luck becomes an appropriate symbol of the mental attitude of the north temperate zone in the month of January—

Remember that soon it will be February, and that in February the advance guard of the nation's favorite baseball players will start to play catch and swing funny bats in the south, pausing now and then to soak in more sunshine.

It's a good way to make winter seem shorter than it really is.

Another mistake the New Deal makes is in attacking industry instead of attacking unemployment.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, January 22

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE is not a particularly auspicious one, holding forebodings of rather unhappy and regrettable circumstances, which may have immediate effect on the private life as well as the physical condition. There may be excitement, irritability or tempestuous conduct, followed by a break in an intimate relation, unless there is determination to sidetrack eccentric indulgences.

Those whose birthday it is are at the brink of a year of unhappiness, disruption and disturbance unless they exercise sound judgment and tact and refrain from erratic or peculiar actions in their most cherished relationships. This might have serious reaction on the nervous or physical well-being.

A child born on this day may be eccentric, excitable, highstrung and tempestuous as well as violent and self-indulgent. However, it may enjoy some of "the eccentricities of genius."

For Monday, January 23

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is a very propitious one, with much promise of expanding business and financial conditions, enhanced personal and social popularity and prestige. It is a time for reaching for high goals, with assurance of attainment, with the recognition and friendly aid from superiors or those in high station.

Those whose birthday it is may feel assured of a prosperous and progressive year, with superiors, employers or those in high places ready to resist with generosity and friendly interest. It is a time for reaching out for well-planned objectives and high personal aspirations.

A child born on this day will be well endowed for success and advanced position, having a fine mind, worthy aspirations and the winning personality contributory to fulfillment of advanced ideals in life.

SPEAKS FOR HUNTER

TOLEDO, Jan. 21.—Don Waters, Ohio's newly appointed conservation commissioner, favors state purchase of hunting lands so that the average hunter will not be "out of luck."

Waters, addressing the junior chamber of commerce last night, said Ohio faced a threatened shortage of hunting territory.

He advocated apportioning a "substantial" sum from the annual license fee total "for the purchase of sizable areas of hunting lands in different parts of the state."

Waters complimented his predecessor in office, Lawrence Woodell, with a statement that "the past administration has been an outstanding one—undoubtedly the best that has been had in this division."

"However, after careful study, we hope to improve the things which in our opinion need changing," Waters added.

Asserting the ranks of hunters are increasing yearly, accompanied by a corresponding demand for open lands, Waters said:

"Sportsmen are entitled to the use of such public hunting lands without any other cost except the usual license."

I wonder if an increase in leasing, by hunting clubs, of privately-owned lands, which formerly were open to the public, will not so restrict the available hunting area for the common fellow that some of us may be out of luck?"

Lives Of Four Great Men
Devoted To Health Fight

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I hope stamp collectors bought a whole sheet of the Christmas seals this year, because unless they did they will miss the four important stamps, one at each corner of the sheet. Unlike the other stamps on the sheet, these show pictures of the four great heroes of tuberculosis.

In the upper left-hand corner is Laennec, who invented the stethoscope. He was a French physician and the story is that he had a puzzling case. He thought his patient had a disease of the chest but he was not able to confirm it. While in this state of mind he went walking in the parks of Paris and saw some children playing at a seesaw. One child had his ear down on the board and the other was scraping a telegraphic message to him at the other end with a pin. Laennec instantly thought of the possibilities of using a tube to listen to the sounds made by the heart and lungs. He went back to the hospital and found that his idea was practical. His description of the stethoscope was published in 1819.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Discovered Cause
At the upper right-hand corner of the tuberculosis seals is a stamp with a picture of Robert Koch. His claim to fame in tuberculosis is that he discovered the cause of the disease, the tubercle bacillus.

In the lower left-hand corner is a stamp with a picture of E. L. Trudeau, who founded the first sanatorium for tuberculosis in the United States at Saranac Lake. This sanatorium is still operating, and one of the most famous in the world. Trudeau found out that he had tuberculosis when a young man. In those days it was thought that the diagnosis of tuberculosis was a death warrant. Trudeau decided to go out into the great wilderness of the Adirondacks to die, but instead of that the mountain air and the open life healed his lung disease and he lived to the age of 67, dying in 1915. His is the inspiring example for any discouraged person who has been told he has tuberculosis.

Got Stamp Idea
Finally, in the lower right-hand corner of the sheet of tuberculosis seals is the picture of Ejnar Høbbel, a Danish mail clerk who thought of the idea of tuberculosis stamps. The story is that he was counting and sorting Christmas greeting cards one year and it seemed to him foolish for people to send so many cards with only printed greetings on them. He thought there should be a tax on would support sick and crippled people. He managed to convince the King Christian of Denmark of the virtue of his idea and the first seals were sold in 1904 and netted a profit of $18,000 for the tuberculosis hospitals of Denmark.

I am writing this article in January and realize it is too late for the Christmas seals, but I feel there is no reason why these stamps should not be sold all through the year in order to support the great cause of preventing a disease which we have almost conquered.

J. K.: Is there such a thing as hereditary varicose veins? Would that explain the appearance of blue veins on the thighs at the early age of 16? Is there any possible way of removing these veins?

Answer—The small superficial veins that would appear just under the skin of the thigh are not varicose veins. These can be removed by freezing with carbon dioxide snow, or by electrolysis and other methods known to dermatologists.

The pastor's adult Bible class meets at 9:15 a. m.

Worship service at 10 a. m. The pastor will continue his heart to heart talks on the general theme "Life Adjustments." The subject for this Sunday is, "When You Are Growing Up." The text for this sermon is written in the book of Isaiah 40, 28-31.

Last Sunday Rev. Bauman discussed the influence on the first four years of a child's life, particularly religious influence. This Sunday he is going to talk about the child as it grows up, and what adjustments parents must make in themselves in the child, so that the child will have a complete life to live and not be mal-adjusted toward society, toward itself, and toward God.

German service at 11 a. m.

Word Settles Our Problems

"The Bible is the one Book the prayerful study of which will reveal to our hearts the right solution of any problem which life may bring to us. This has been the experience of Christians in all ages. In the Word of God we find the psalmist exclaiming, 'Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.' The way in which we may use the Word to meet our difficulties is illustrated in the temptation faced by our Lord at the beginning of His public ministry. To tempt Him Satan presented to Him His reply was, 'It is written.' So it may be with us. Whether our problem is one of temptation or of doubt or lack of wisdom, or whether it takes some other form, we find in the pages of the Bible a message of strength, or of certainty, or of knowledge, or of faith."

Announcements

Monday evening at 7:30 the Luther League will meet for Bible study and social.

Rev. Keister Plans To Talk Sunday on Topic "Debtors All"

"Debtors All" is the subject of the sermon which will be delivered by Rev. George D. Keister at the morning worship service of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church tomorrow, the third Sunday after Epiphany.

Services for the church and announcements follow:

Sunday school, 9:45; (Luke 22:31-54), Charles W. Youtz, supt.

"Christians are not to be ashamed of their faith in and allegiance to Jesus Christ, their Savior. It may not be dangerous to be a Christian in some places, but it may take real courage to remain true to your loyalty in your God. Peter denied that he was a friend of Jesus. He cursed and swore to strengthen his denial. Thus is the way of temptation. The strong fall before it, when they rely on their own strength. God is to be our help when temptations come."

Morning worship, 11; sermon.

"Human life is very much woven together. There is an intertwining of people that cannot be avoided. Every person has debts that cannot be paid although the bank account could be computed in many figures. All the debts of the human race are not in terms of money only. The present generation is heavily indebted to the past generations. The nation of today is made possible by the sacrifices and secure foundations of the founding forefathers. Every one is indebted to God. Christianity has by its blessings put every person in its debt. Debtors is a term that can well be applied to all people."

Luther league, 6:30; devotional topic, "Bork Study"; leader, Ruth Bowman.

Continue Series At First Baptist Church Tomorrow

A series of sermons on the general theme "Following Christ to Calvary" will be continued at the First Baptists church Sunday morning with Rev. S. Talmage Magann preaching on the subject "A Persistent Soul."

This is another sermon bearing the emphasis for January on thoughts from prayer life of Jesus.

In the prayer life of Jesus is found one of the secrets of His unfailing courage and faultless vision. This is essential to the discovery of reality in the Christian life and is therefore of great importance to all who would follow Jesus, Rev. Magann declares.

The evening sermon "In Moments of Human Weakness" points to some of the common temptations with which people frequently come in contact. In yielding to them they wreck opportunities for happiness and progress in the fulfillment of God's plan, the pastor says.

9:30 a. m.—Sunday school officers and teachers and deacons prayer service.

9:45 a. m.—Sunday school; Elwood Hammel, superintendent.

Morning worship, 10:45—Sermon. Young people's service, 6:30 p. m.—Miss Alice Vanek, president.

Thursday—Choir rehearsal.

Christian Science Society Services

"Truth" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read at the morning worship service of the Christian Science Society tomorrow.

The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WCLE (610 kil.) in Cleveland every Sunday at 11 a. m.

Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years is held at 9:30 a. m. while the mid-week service is held at the church at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

The Golden Text is: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock. His work is perfect: for all His ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is He." (Deuteronomy 32:34).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "These are the things that ye shall do: Speak ye every man the truth to his neighbor; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates" (Zechariah 8:16).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The question, What is Truth, is answered by demonstration. — by healing both disease and sin; and this demonstration shows that Christian healing confers the most health and makes the best men." (Pref. viii).

This society maintains a reading room at 136 South Broadway where the Bible and all authorized Christian Science literature may be read or borrowed. The room is open daily from 1 to 4 p. m. and on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 7 to 9 p. m.

The public is invited to attend all services and to visit the reading room.

After a long time she saw him come out of the darkness into the light.

Van saw her and stood still. Slowly she arose and bit back the hot tears. This time she wasn't going to cry for what she wanted. This time she wasn't going to be a spoiled child.

"What are you doing here?" he asked sharply, frowning the familiar frown. He did not want to see her or speak to her or think of her.

MY LOVE IS NEW by IRIS BENNETT

CHAPTER XXIII

At cocktail hour in one of Washington's better hotels, Terry sat opposite a vivid, dark-haired girl. The place was cool and dimly lighted, the orchestra was playing an Argentine tango, and waiters in white moved noiselessly between the little tables. Low voices and low laughter mixed with the throbbing music and the tinkling of glasses.

He asked again, "What are you doing here? If it's money you want, that's being taken care of." But his eyes were still the eyes of a boy who had been hurt. "If you've come to make another scene."

Her voice had both courage and humility in it.

"I don't want any money and I've made my last scene. Van." She was shivering now. What she wanted to say was forgotten for a moment by seeing him, tall, sunburned, his temples very blonde beneath the casual brown hat. He looked haggard and thinner. The tie he wore she had bought for him and he had laughed at her taste in ties. He had said, "Listen, honey, I love you but please let me buy my own ties. This one looks like a barber pole." But he was wearing it! Did he remember? But minutes were important. Soon the train would come. Hold it back! Never let that train come!

"It's a little late for anything, don't you think?" he asked seeing that she was trembling from cold, seeing how childish she looked and how her dark curls were blowing back from her face. "There's nothing for us to say to each other."

He tried not to look at her but the intensity and honesty of her eyes drew his back.

"Yes, it is too late." Rosalind said breathlessly. "I lost you because of a new dress. But I'd have lost you anyway with the attitude I had. It went to my head, the new clothes from the best shops, your house, belonging to the club. I couldn't take it! I snubbed Constance at the club one night. High-tailed my own sister! It made a fool out of me. I wasn't big enough for it. You want something terribly as I wanted the things you and your family gave me, but when you get them, you don't know what to do with them. Then you get reckless and throw them away. You spoil the very things you'd give your life for!"

He shrugged. "What's the use of going over all that now? How do you think I've felt, seeing everything smashed? But I haven't felt myself feel much. It's much easier to drink." He nodded slowly. "You'll get over it. There'll be plenty of guys who'll be glad you're back in circulation again."

Softly she asked, "Will you get over it, Van?"

He gave a short, bitter laugh and averted his eyes.

"Sure I will. Plenty of girls where I'm going and plenty to drink." Then, taking a step nearer, he seized her bare arms so fiercely that his fingers pressed into her flesh. "I was happy when I was working and making good and staying away from liquor! Happy, you understand? I was proud of myself. I got a kick out of it! I got a kick out of walking in a room where my friends were, feeling that they were proud of me and that I'd stopped letting them down! Now.... Oh, what's the use of this? Where'll it get us now?"

Rosalind did not care how cold she was, did not care that people, emerging from cars, paused to stare before they went into the station. Van seemed not to see them. Hold the train back, she thought again. Please give me a few more minutes with him....

She looked up. "I was crazy with jealousy that night. I was afraid you'd meet somebody else and fall in love with her and prefer her to me. I was so afraid of losing you. I wanted to go after you and beg you to come home. But I was too stubborn and proud and angry. And when I saw you with Felice, I—I didn't know what I was doing! Then the next day you looked at me, not loving me anymore. Constance used to say that love had to be earned. I was selfish and greedy. I was afraid. It was all so new and wonderful but I wasn't big enough for it. And I thought if I ever had to go back to Vine street I'd die. But I went back and I'm still there and I'm a better person because I had to go...."

Constance said, "We'll go out tonight, Rosalind. We'll go to a movie."

Ignoring her mother's question, "Where are you going, dear?" Rosalind left the room, left the house, and walked quickly down the street. It did not matter that she was cold in her thin summer dress. Nothing mattered except what her heart was saying. "See him once more, even if he doesn't see you, even if seeing him at a distance hurts like nothing ever hurt before."

Reaching the station, she did not go in but sat on a bench outside. Cold in her thin white dress she waited, looking eagerly into the face of every man who emerged from the twilight with a traveling bag in his hand and went inside the station. Several people glanced at her curiously, thinking she was a run-away, no doubt, noting how young she looked in her white dress and soft blue-heeled sport shoes and blue socks, noting, too, the distress in her face.

If he were going away on the train tonight, he would have to pass her here. She could not miss him.

After a long time she saw him come out of the darkness into the light.

Van saw her and stood still. Slowly she arose and bit back the hot tears. This time she wasn't going to cry for what she wanted. This time she wasn't going to be a spoiled child.

"What are you doing here?" he asked sharply, frowning the familiar frown. He did not want to see her or speak to her or think of her.

But seeing her again, remembering, she filled his mind. Large dark eyes set in an oval face, dark curls soft as a child's, absurdly long lashes, red mouth.... Rosalind.... Hate her, he thought, think that she has no pride. Remember the night at the Red Slipper, the night in jail, your mother's shame and tears. But your first days together, after your marriage, remember them, too....

He moved away. "I've got to get my ticket. Wait...."

He seemed to be gone a long time. Should she wait and see him go? She had not cried. She had not begged or pled for a second chance. This time she had not cried or fought for what she wanted. This time she had said on what was in her heart. But the wait was so much more to say.

No, she would not wait for his final good-bye. Shivering again, she walked away. She could not bear to see him walk away from her a second time and this time forever.

But she had taken only a few steps when his arms caught her and turned her about.

"Two tickets! One for you and one for me!" He let out his breath and laughed. His brown hair was asked from a near collision with the door. "I'm not going to Reno! I never wanted to go. This place, I can't go anywhere without you. I can't go on without you. I've been nearly nuts. I don't care if they disown me. You're my wife! I don't care what anybody says. I'll get a job somewhere. We'll make out. We'll...."

Her words rushed, too. Her misty eyes were shining.

"Van, it wasn't our mother's house nor the clothes nor the club I minded giving up but you! You! I don't care if I never see the club again nor get a new dress. That night when you stopped loving me and began to hate me, I—I never stopped loving you and I didn't take Felice to the Red Slipper that night. She was there when I got there and if you'd only looked, you'd have seen what a rotten time I was having. They'll say we're a couple of crazy kids again but I think we know what it's all about. This time I wasn't! I wasn't! I lost my head, too. You were something so special. You didn't get together and have it out before? Why have we been punishing ourselves with being separated?"

"I tried to reach you."

He kissed her hastily. "What do we care what anybody says as long as we.... Hey, that train must be here! Let's go in! Let's get that train. Can you...."

Standing on tip-toe, she brushed his smooth brown face with her lip.

"Just hold onto my hand, darling! Hold onto my hand and I'll go anywhere with you, get any train...."

Her hand in his, they went inside and ran down the steps to the tracks....

Held for Questioning in Subway Nickels Theft

Four of eight New York subway employees questioned in connection with the alleged theft of more than a million dollars in nickels from the independent city-owned subway system are pictured being booked in New York. The four are, left to right, Charles Cox, George Walls, John Carlson and William Kuehl. Chairman John H. Delaney of the city board of transportation said the figures could be adduced "only by the liveliest imagination." Delaney said that "there is only the smallest indirect evidence of the loss of even $1,000, because every station agent is under bond."

QUAKERS ROMP TO EASY WIN OVER PALESTINE

EXPECT CHAMP TO FACE HARD TEST IN BOUT

John Henry Lewis May Be More Than Joe Louis Can Handle

By GAYLE TALBOT.
NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The shrewd old-timers of the boxing clan are nearly unanimous in predicting that John Henry Lewis will give Champion Joe Louis a real run for his money next Wednesday night and still will be throwing leather at the end of 15 rounds.

Not a single manager or former manager interviewed by the writer has come out flat-footed and predicted a knock-out for the champion. They admit the possibility, of course, but their best guess is that John Henry, the finest boxer among the big men, will go the route and make a more even thing of it than Tommy Farr did summer before last.

Even John Roxborough, co-manager of Joe, has not gone out on a limb this time, and he is the one who insisted most strenuously that the bland bomber would stop Max Schmeling in the first round. He is confident that Joe will keep his title, but gives the impression he would be glad to settle for a decision.

Such recognized authorities as Larry White, present manager of Fred Apostoli and "discoverer" of John Henry Lewis, and Dumb Dan Morgan, who has piloted Jack Britton and many other famous fighters, are firmly of the belief that the clever challenger has better than an outside chance of scoring a sensational upset.

Doubtful interesting is the fact that they base their belief not on John Henry's past performance, but on the way he is training for this fight. They have noted that he obviously is preparing to carry the battle to the champ's body, and they think that is the way Louis ultimately is going to be licked.

They, like many of the fight crowd, never have been convinced that Louis would relish a hard and sustained assault on his shorts.

The obvious flaw, of course, lies in the possibility that Lewis will get tagged, lose his head like others have done, and try to slug it out with the champion. That always is a fatal mistake.

OHIO NORTHERN CHALKS UP WIN

Polar Bears Cop Victory Over Muskingum, 63-49, In Conference Tilt

(By Associated Press)
The Polar Bears of Ohio Northern university thrive in arctic weather. Northern's basketball team romped to a 63 to 49 victory over Muskingum last night, paced by Forward Chojnicki who bagged 10 field goals and a pair of free tosses for 22 points.

Keel, a Polar Bear guard, collected 15.

The Ada quintet set to with a will and ran up a 31-25 half-time lead. Ballantine, Muskingum forward, turned in 16 points for the losers. His running mate, Cullison, accounted for 11 points.

Mount Union scored its second conference win in seven tilts, taking Bowling Green 34 to 21. Mount's tight defense held the Bee-Gees to four field goals. Mills, lanky Mount center, took individual scoring honors with 12.

Rio Grande rallied late in the second half to defeat New River State of West Virginia, 29 to 26. New River led at the half, 15-9.

Toledo De Sales crushed Ohio College of Chiquita at Cleveland, 56 to 37. Giffin of Van Wert, in an intersectional game, fell before Huntington, (Ind.) college, 42 to 26. Taylor university of Upland, Ind., trounced another Ohio quintet, Tiffin Business College, 36 to 30.

BOWLING RESULTS

Three top ranking teams of the Federal league gained victories in matches at the Masonic temple alleys last night.

The leading Democrats won three games over the National Brass & Copper, the second-place Brownies' Amoco took three heats from the Eagles and the third-place Sanitary Shippers moved from sixth to fifth place by taking two out of three games from the Ohio Edison Sales in the other match.

Callahan of the Eagles team set a new high three-game score for the league by turning in a 604 series on games of 190, 200 and 214.

The first-place Grate Recreation team of the Grate Ladies' league suffered two defeats in its match with the Unknowns last night, but the set-back did not drop the Grate ladies out of the leading berth.

Endres-Gross Florists, who hold down second place in the ladies circuit, gained a step on the Grate team by taking two out of three games over Kaufman's Grocers. Miss Stella Smith had a 520 series for the Florists while Mrs. Edith Groner turned in high score for the night in rolling 543, including a 212 game, for the Grocers.

The Modern Beauty Shop won the other ladies match, taking three games from the Church Budget.

The Grate Recreation men's road team chalked up a victory at Dover last night, defeating the Thomas Alley team of Dover, 2589 to 2582. Ralph Phillips was high for the Grate team with a 597 series, including a 255 single game.

Defeat stalked the trail of the Grate Recreation duckpin team which lost to a Columbiana team, 1965 to 1821, at Columbiana.

STATE SHOOTER TOPS AMERICAN ALL-STAR TEAM

Heistand Named Captain Of Squad Of Leading Trap Shooters

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 21.—A 15-year-old Kansas school boy today took his place with the nation's leading trapshooters on the 1938 All-American trap shooting team chosen by Jimmy Robinson of Minneapolis, trapshooting editor of Sports Afield magazine.

The Kansas youth, "Rudy" Eichen of Wichita, named with nine others—one a woman—to the team, won the junior championship at the Grand American meet last August by breaking 18 out of a hundred targets.

Young Eichen also won the Kansas State championship, missing only four of 200 targets.

Joe Heistand of Hillsboro, O., named captain of the team, took the national trapshooting championship at the Grand American with 200 straight and turned in a world's long run of 1,179 registered targets, Robinson said.

Feminine member of the group is Lola Hall of Strasburg, Mo., who won her fourth consecutive women's title at the Grand American.

As the most improved trapshooter of the season, Robinson selected Vic Reinders of Waukegan, Wis., winner of the mid-west event at Grand Forks, N. D., and all-around champion at 12 major shoots in the middle west.

From the Pacific coast, Robinson chose Frank Troeh of Portland, Ore. Others named by Robinson are a veteran, Mark Hootman of Hicksville, O., winner of the champion of champions event at the Grand American; Fred Tomlin of Glassboro, N. J., who ran 714 straight targets for a new professional record; Capt. J. B. Grier of Rockland, Del., world's professional doubles champion; Walter Beaver of Berwyn, Pa., high registered doubles breaker, and Phil Miller of French Lick, Ind., who averaged 9898 of 3,050 registered targets.

BARONS BATTLE HERSHEY ICERS

Cleveland Team To Face Leaders of League's Western Division

CLEVELAND, Jan. 21.—The Hershey Bears, leaders of the western division of the International-American Hockey league, will attempt to make their temporary mastery over the Cleveland Barons permanent Sunday night when the two teams collide at the Arena.

It will be the ninth meeting of the rival outfits this season and, incidentally, the last appearance of the Bears here unless they manage to win the playoffs.

Cleveland was the worst sort of jinx to the Bears early part of the year, winning six games in a row from the "baby" member of the league. In their last two encounters, however, Hershey reversed the order of things and finished on the long end of the scores, 1 to 0, and 5 to 2.

The Barons remain at home and on Wednesday, Jan. 25, play host to the rampaging Philadelphia Ramblers far out in front of the other seven clubs in the standings. On Saturday, Jan. 28, they conclude their home stay against the Rhode Island Reds of Providence.

One cheerful note in the Cleveland hockey hopes was sounded this week with the return of Oscar (Ossie) Asmundson to the lineup. Purchased from New Haven for a considerable sum, Ossie was on the sidelines for two months as a result of a broken bone in his right leg.

LISBON BEATEN BY COLUMBIANA

Donbar and Dewalt Pace Beach's Cagers To 27-20 Victory

LISBON, Jan. 21.—With Donbar and Dewalt setting the pace, Coach Al Beach's Columbiana High school cagers rolled to a 27 to 20 victory over Lisbon in a Columbiana county basketball tilt here last night.

Donbar tallied nine points and Dewalt eight in leading the Columbiana offensive. Kearney and Hollinger shared scoring honors for Lisbon with seven points apiece.

The Lisbon reserves had an easy time in romping to a 33 to 17 victory over Columbiana reserves.

GOSHEN WINS IN OVERTIME GAME

Damascus Boys Post Victory Over Beloit In Extra Period

DAMASCUS, Jan. 21.—A field goal in the extra period gave Goshen High school boys a 25 to 23 victory over Beloit cagers in an overtime game here last night.

The score was tied at 23-all at the close of the regulation playing time following a nip-and-tuck battle in each of the four periods. Baker and Keeler starred for Goshen, the former collecting 12 points and the latter nine.

The Goshen and Beloit girls battled to a 23-23 tie in the preliminary game. Girls' rules do not provide for playing off a tie.

In the opening game of the night, the Goshen eighth graders nosed out Beloit eighth graders, 23 to 21.

Brown Gives Reserves Big Share Of Action As Salem Cagers Post 42-21 Triumph

Quakers Enjoy Biggest Scoring Spree Of Season In Trouncing County Rival; Duncan Leads Scoring With 13 Points

"What'll it be tonight—20 points?" Those were the words of Basketball Coach Frank Bryant of East Palestine as he wondered before game time how bad a licking his "green" and unpolished Bulldogs were going to absorb in their annual cage contest with Salem High school's Quakers last night.

Bryant expected his team to meet defeat and perhaps he was a bit psychic in his prediction of the score for the East Palestine cagers took it on the chin to the tune of a 42 to 21 count.

The Quakers enjoyed their biggest scoring spree of the season and their lightest opposition to date in romping to their one-sided win over the hapless Bulldogs.

The victory was the fifth of the 1938-39 campaign for the Salem lads and their second against a Columbiana county opponent.

Coach Herb Brown used every member of his varsity squad in the lop-sided action. The subs were credited with more playing time than in any other game this season.

Brown kept his first string lineup of Bill Schaeffer, Amos Dunlap, Galen Duncan, Les Knepp and Burton Sutter intact throughout most of the first period, but gave the second stringers plenty of action in the second, third and fourth quarters.

The Bulldogs offered little opposition to either of the Quakers' two varsity quintets in the first three periods, but managed to play on even terms with the second stringers in the final quarter.

Composed entirely of reserves team lacked an offensive punch and failed to show any strength on defense. The Quakers romped through the Bulldogs' sliding man-to-man defense with comparative ease, scoring practically at will.

Lack of any one dangerous scoring threat and good ball-handlers and passers appeared to be the main weakness of the inexperienced East Palestine squad.

The game provided absolutely no test for the Quakers and is likely to do Brown's charges more harm than good. The ease with which they conquered the Bulldogs may have a dangerous affect tonight when they face Youngstown East at Youngstown.

Getting away to a fast start by scoring eight points in the first two minutes of play, the Salem regulars piled up a 10 point lead, 15 to 5, in the first quarter. Then rested almost the entire second period while the second stringers took over the spotlight.

The Quakers increased their lead to 16 points in the second quarter by outscoring East Palestine, nine points to three. The score at the close of the second frame was 24 to 8.

Brown inserted his first stringers back into the game at the start of the third quarter, but jugged his lineup several times during this period as the Quakers continued to outscore the Bulldogs to move ahead by 21 points.

With the score standing at 35 to 14 at the opening of the fourth quarter, Brown began sending his regulars to the showers and letting the second stringers carry the full burden. The Bulldogs performed their best against the Quakers' all-second team lineup in the final frame, scoring seven points to Salem's seven.

Galen Duncan, the Quakers' wiry-built redhead, led the individual scoring with 13 points.

HICKLING STARS FOR HI-Y QUINT

Scores 14 Points to Pace Salem Team To Easy Victory

Taking a commanding lead in the first quarter, Salem Hi-Y cagers walloped East Palestine Hi-Y, 51 to 18, at the Salem High school gymnasium last night.

The local Hi-Y quintet piled up a 14-point advantage in the first quarter and outscored East Palestine in each of the following periods to win without trouble. Salem held a 22 to 6 lead at halftime.

Jack Hickling hooped seven field goals and two free throws to lead the Salem scoring with 14 points.

Here and There About Town

"Salt Down" Streets

A ton of rock salt would be a lot of salt for somebody's ice cream freezer.

But this salt wasn't used for that purpose. Instead, Service Director Frank Wilson had his men pour the salt over ice coated E. State st. between Lincoln and Ellsworth avenues this morning in an effort to break the ice which has gripped the thoroughfare for more than a week.

Ordinarily, vehicular traffic breaks up the snow and ice on the downtown streets, but continued cold weather forced the director to act.

Plant Worker Injured

Rudolf Fronius, 57, of 1016 Liberty st., was slightly injured yesterday at the Deming plant, where he is employed as a machinist.

A piece of steel chipped from a chisel and lodged in the index finger of his right hand. He was given first aid treatment at Salem City hospital and returned to the plant.

Officers Nominated

Nomination of officers featured a meeting of the Salem Townsfolk club at the Memorial building last night. The election is planned for next Friday night.

An old-time dance followed the meeting. Lunch was served. Music for the dancing was by Lodge's orchestra.

Debaters In Action

With two victories to their credit, the Salem High school debaters will engage East Palestine High school at East Palestine Monday night. Both schools recently won decisions over Leetonia.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Frank Clott of 543 Columbia st., Mrs. Helen Weikart of Washingtonville and Mrs. Henry Hepper of Steubenville have entered Salem City hospital for surgical treatment.

Elks At Ravenna

Approximately 30 Salem Elks attended a meeting in Ravenna last night. The Ravenna members entertained the visitors at a dinner followed by a program and entertainment.

DURANT, Okla.—Two Durant business men were short of their shirt tails at a banquet because they lost a contest to obtain new funds for the Durant Chamber of Commerce. Shirt-tailless after the meal were Boyd Abbott, oil man, and Clyde Rawl.

Deming Company Executives, Salesmen Hold Convention

F. Gordon, B. Samelson, H. L. Anderson, J. R. King, E. E. Kendall, R. Clunson, R. L. Davis. Front row: E. S. Dawson, H. E. Stiver, F. J. Emery, G. R. Deming, L. P. Koenreich, D. A. Ward, R. W. Geaume, A. V. Mueller, L. H. Taylor.

Another milestone in the progress of the Deming company was achieved recently with the annual sales meeting—a three-day event—one of the largest conventions of its kind ever held by the firm.

Deming salesmen, who cover all parts of the United States, were in Salem with the exception of the representative in Florida, one man in Michigan and one man in New York City.

The three days were crowded with instructive talks on the products, advertising, sales and other things with which a selling man must be familiar if he is to do his best work in the field.

Realizing that too much work and no play is not conducive to best efforts, entertainment features were also planned for the visiting salesmen.

As one of the high spots of the meeting, a complete outline of the growth of the company was given. It was shown how, just a few years ago, only a small number of distributors took the complete output of the plant compared with today's healthy position where hundreds of concerns now look to Deming as their source of supply.

DEATHS

MRS. T. A. CLAYCOMB

Mrs. Elizabeth Claycomb, 45, wife of T. A. Claycomb, of 571 North Lincoln ave., died at 8:55 p. m. yesterday in Salem City hospital where she had been a patient for the last two weeks.

Mrs. Claycomb was born Aug. 12, 1893, in Richmond, Va., the daughter of William and Elizabeth Layman. She was a member of the Presbyterian church, the Order of Eastern Star, Daughters of Union Veterans and American Legion auxiliary. She had lived in Salem since 1931, coming here from Zellenple, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Claycomb formerly lived in Coon's Run.

She leaves, besides her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Harold Hammy, of Salem; three sisters, Mrs. William Hinkle of Clarkburg, W. Va., Mrs. Orla Bowman of Riverview, W. Va., and Mrs. Nan Gaskill of Salem. Rev. R. D. Walter will be in charge of the funeral service at 2 p. m. Monday at the Stark Memorial.

The family will meet friends at the residence, 571 North Lincoln ave., Sunday afternoon and evening.

MRS. JOHN LEWIS

Mrs. Thomas Humphreys of South Ellsworth ave., has received word of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Lewis, of Massillon. Mrs. Lewis died yesterday in the Massillon City hospital following two weeks' illness.

Funeral service will be held Sunday at the home there. Her husband, three sons and three daughters survive, with several grandchildren.

St. Paul's Musical Will Be Repeated

The musical comedy, "Mikol," written and presented successfully in the High school auditorium last week by members of St. Paul's Catholic club, will be repeated at a public performance on March 17.

The same cast will be seen in the production, including Richard Cavanaugh, Maryellen Loutzenhiser, Margaret Enright, Mary Frances Jurgens, Winifred Cullinan, Mary Elizabeth O'Neil, Peter Fainl, Carmen McNeil, Rita Munsell, James Stiefel and Clarence Walker, and chorus of gypsy boys and girls.

A 20-piece orchestra, directed by Don Quinn, will provide the appropriate musical background for the play which tells the story of a young gypsy musician who finds fame and fortune.

Members of the club, with Rev. Fr. Herbert J. Cook assisting in the writing and directing, wrote the story and the lyrics, designed sets, composed the music, and acted in the production.

Musie was written by Ray Barnett and Ann Sweeney, including eight original songs and several orchestral numbers.

votes to raise the appropriation to $875,000,000.

Another—Senator Schwelmbach (D., Wash.)—said senators favoring the higher figure would meet soon to map strategy.

"It is essential that at least $875,000,000 be appropriated," he declared.

Schwelmbach's colleague, Senator B. Nease (D., Wash.), said the subcommittee's bill "will not solve the problem."

"Unquestionably $875,000,000 is the barest minimum for relief needs until June 30," B. Nease added.

Backs Committee Plan

Senator Russell (D., Cal.), a subcommittee member, contended the committee proposal would "protect everyone on the relief rolls through the winter months."

The subcommittee wrote into the bill a requirement that the WPA administrator start an investigation immediately to determine whether any persons "not entitled to relief" are receiving it.

It struck out house-approved provisions against political activity by WPA employees, and substituted even stricter prohibitions submitted by Senator Hatch (D., N. M.). The Hatch proposals would penalize political activity by fines of not more than $1,000 and prison sentences of not more than one year, or both.

A house proposal limiting sectional differentials in WPA pay to 25 percent was approved in substance. Another house provision limiting relief to citizens of the United States was revised to permit aliens who have their "first papers" for citizenship to go on the rolls.

The subcommittee inserted a provision that no person could receive relief if he had been offered a job in private industry at prevailing wages.

It threw out a house prohibition against the use of relief funds to establish hosiery mills or home-stead projects, and accepted a provision designed to prevent WPA employees from being blanketed into civil service.

Columbiana Lists Ten Fire Alarms

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 21.—Fire Chief Harvey Hisey, in releasing his annual report today, said that 10 calls were made during the year by the volunteer fire department. Five of the runs, including a false alarm, were chargeable to the village, and the remainder, made out of town were charged directly to property owners.

An ordinance covering appropriation of the sum of $111,523.78 was made by village council this week. This amount is for all municipal departments including village business, street work, public service, utilities, cemetery, walks, park, which in a year's time amounts to a sizable amount.

The salary of the clerk of the board of public affairs was raised from $125 a month to $150. This change was made because of increased work required of the clerk. James Bowers was rehired as village engineer for two months at a salary not to exceed $175 at the rate of $1 an hour.

A special session of council will be held Tuesday evening for the task of recodifying all ordinances and making revisions and additions to all laws passed during the years since Columbiana was chartered.

Wallace Beery, Florence Rice and Robert Taylor in a scene from "Stand Up and Fight", showing at the State Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The good old outdoor "melodrama" makes its appearance in the strictly A-class film, "Stand Up and Fight", which shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the State.

Wallace Beery and Robert Taylor are co-starred in a story describing the bitter rivalry between the railroad and the stage coach line of the 1850's. Florence Rice, Helen Broderick, Charles Bickford and Barton MacLane head the supporting cast.

Girl Owns Coach Line

Florence Rice, by virtue of outstanding work in "Fast Company" and "Sweetheart", wins her most important assignment to date as Taylor's leading lady. Miss Rice is seen as the owner of a stagecoach line of which Beery is manager and for which Taylor, a bankrupt young Maryland aristocrat, is forced to go to work.

Based on Forbes Parkhill's novel, "Stand Up and Fight" stresses rapid-fire action throughout, with two bare-knuckle fights between Taylor and Beery, a saloon brawl, jail dynamiting, gunfight, covered wagon wreck and a race between a train and stagecoach providing plot complications.

A distinguished featured cast includes Helen Broderick as Aunt Amanda, Miss Rice's chaperon; Charles Bickford and Barton MacLane as suspected slave-runners; Charley Chapewin as Beery's aide; John Qualen as Davey, freight wagon driver and bosom friend of Taylor; Robert Gleckler as the Sheriff; Clinton Rosemond as Enoch, fugitive slave and Taylor's former butler.

Stanwyck Billed
The State's second bill of the week is the comedy mystery, "The Mad Miss Manton," featuring Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda, which shows Wednesday only at the State. A debutante and seven girl friends turn sleuths, pitting Park Avenue against the police, headed by Sam Levene, start to solve a double murder mystery.

An all-star cast, a thrilling story of conquest, heroism, and adventure make "Dawn Patrol" one of the best recent films. Errol Flynn, David Niven, Basil Rathbone, Donald Crisp and Melville Cooper head the large all-male cast. The film story was written by John Monk Saunders, author of the other screen war story successes, "Wings" and "Legion of the Condemned." "Dawn Patrol" shows Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the State. The mystery-adventure, "Trade Winds," featuring Joan Bennett.
